COURSE DESCRIPTION

Runners will start at the old Queen Victoria Hospital. Runners will travel down fast open downhill trail on Kedumba Walls. Just past the 4km point all runners will make a right turn onto the old Maintenance Track. Approximately 500 metres along the track, the runners will take a left turn and descend on fast flowing single trail to Kedumba River (8km).

After crossing the river, runners will make an arduous 3km ascent to the eastern col of Mt. Solitary (11km). This ascent is tough with the elevation change being in the region of 650m over the 3kms. After reaching the col, runners will continue to climb to the high point of Mt Solitary (950m). Runners will traverse the top of Mt. Solitary which is a glorious mix of single trail, with some rock climbing.

From about the 14km point, runners will commence their descent of the western side of Mt. Solitary. This will require some scampering over rocky sections that must be done with due care. After descending the Koorowall Knife Edge ridge, runners will be greeted with some fast single-trail to get the legs moving again. This single trail will continue for about 4km to the base of Golden Stairs.

Runners will continue travelling in a clockwise direction around the Valley. Keep a lookout for little known 'Rennies Tunnel' about 1km north of Golden Stairs. This tunnel was used in the 19th century to remove shale from Megalong Valley (yes you can still go through the tunnel for a shortcut between the two valleys, but that is for another day). Runners will continue past a rocky section of the course known as 'The Landslide' or 'Dogface Buttress' (23km), before passing the day tourists at the Scenic Railway (24km). Make sure you take the time to glimpse to your right to get a magnificent view of Mt. Solitary. Just past the Scenic Railway, runners will climb the signposted Furber Steps to the first checkpoint.

After refuelling and rehydrating, runners descend the stairs again and continue along Federal Pass and pass by the Giant Stairway - DONT CLIMB THESE STAIRS EITHER. This section is a great piece of single trail that leads over to Leura Forest (28km). Head through the forest and pick up the trail on the other side. A short distance past Leura Forest is Lila Falls. A common mistake by runners is to climb the stairs here. DO NOT CLIMB THESE STAIRS.

MT SOLITARY ULTRA

Race 3 Long Course Series – 45km

Continue straight ahead and there is a single trail that heads past a creek crossing to the location of the now closed Sewerage Works. Runners will eventually link up with the old Maintenance Track that takes runners across Jamison Valley.

Runners will continue on a descent firstly to Leura Creek (33km) and then climb slightly before descending again to Jamison Creek (37km). Both of these creeks give runners a chance to wet the feet with some refreshing cold water (please don't drink from either creek). After Jamison Creek, runners will commence the long haul back up Kedumba Walls to the finish line.

QUALIFICATION STANDARD

The Mt Solitary course is run over rugged and at times isolated terrain. There are severe elevation changes that will test the climbing capacity of runners. There are rocky descents that will require caution and an ability of runners to use their hands to manoeuvre over rocks for approximately 400m. Any runner that attempts the Mt. Solitary traverse has to bear in mind there are no exit points other than the course itself, nor any way for emergency services to quickly reach runners. Any injured runner will have to hike off Mt. Solitary to obtain medical assistance.

Running Wild strongly recommends that this event is not attempted by someone transitioning to trail running and has qualification standards in place to assess runners ability.

There will be time cuts on the course designed to have all runners completed within a 9hr cut off. Whilst this sounds generous for a 45km course, the terrain, particularly on the traverse over Mt. Solitary will slow most runners. The minimum standards that are in place have been calculated to ensure that all entrants have the best possible chance of completing the course within the 9hr cut. Any entrant should be in similar physical condition as to the qualifier they are using.

TIME CUTS IN PLACE

SWEEPERS

Due to runners in distress throughout the race in previous years, which have held up the sweep team, there will be different approach to the sweepers in season 10. There will be a sweep that will follow the virtual race time of a 5 hour cut at Fuber steps, if you are not in front of this sweeper, you will not be allowed to continue in the race.

There will be another sweep team that will follow the last runner/s until they reach Fuber steps, where they will be retired from the race.

RUNNERS LEAVING THE COURSE

The only time runners will come out of Jamison Valley during the race is at Furber Steps. If for any reason a runner leaves Jamison Valley by other stairs (Golden Stairs, Giant Stairway or Lila Falls) they must contact the Race Director and notify them of their position. We will then endeavour to collect the runner. Note this option would be a last resort as it will take some time for the transport to divert to the runner's location.
